Infantile Paralysis Patients.

Miss Harriet Austin, who has opened a private sanitarium at her home on Church street, for the treatment of infantile paralysis patients, is meeting with much success.

Miss Austin, a trained nurse, is deserving of no small amount of praise for her work, which she took upon herself for no monetary reasons but as a philanthropic work. Her first patients were the little Anderson boy and the Ash boy and since their going there, a marked improvement in both of these children may be seen and prospects seem to be very bright for both these unfortunate children. Since then a number of other children have been sent to the Miss Austin and at the present time she is attending to ten patients, some of the coming daily to her home, while others remain there all the time. In cases where the parents have not been able to contribute toward the care of their children, Miss Austin has come forward and taken the matter wholly into her own hands, although there have already been some minor contributions and we understand that a subscription is now being circulated to raise a considerable sum for this work, and certainly there can be no more deserving cause than this. Parents whose children have had the dreaded misfortune to suffer from this most terrible disease, should consult Miss Austin. It is very likely that some measure of relief may be afforded these unfortunate children, and certainly no child could be placed where they could have as good care and attention as Miss Austin is giving them. A few people of her sort in every community go very far toward making it worth while for us to live in such a place.

Parents' Night.

At the high school room Monday evening, Oct. 19, there will be held a parents' and teachers' meeting, at which time Supt. Mason S. Stone of Montpelier will be present, together with Hon. J. L. McBrien of the bureau of education, Washington, D. C. Mr. McBrien is known as the educational evangelist and will deliver an address which will be of interest to every parent and pupil present. There will be a short literary program preceding the address, after which there will be a very informal social time when the parents can become better known to the teachers and can know them better. It is very much desired that the parents co-operate with the teachers and attend this meeting in order that everyone may become the more interested in the school work.

Farmers' Auto Excursion to Burlington

Mr. Deuel, county agent is sending out letters to members of Orleans County Agricultural association as follows.

"The Orleans County Agricultural association has an invitation, from the Vermont College of Agriculture and Experiment station to visit the institution on Oct. 26 and 27. Several have signified a desire to go and so the invitation has been accepted. A similar excursion was made by the Windsor and Rutland County associations and those who went were most enthusiastic over the trip. What is good for Windsor and Rutland county farmers should be good for the Orleans county farmers.

"As it is now planned our party will leave Newport at eight o'clock sharp on Monday morning, Oct. 26 and go by way of Troy, Westfield, Lowell, Eden, Cambridge, etc. Parties from the other sections of the county can join at any point on the route, and arrive in Burlington at noon. The New Sherwood hotel will be the headquarters.

"In the afternoon some of the farms around Burlington will be visited. The next morning will come the inspection of the Agricultural college and experiment station. At noon the party will be the guests of the Burlington Commercial club at luncheon, at which time there will be a speaker who will have something interesting to say. On the return trip a farm or two will be visited.

"Such an excursion will be a fine one for the Orleans farmers of our county, and should not be considered a luxury because there will be a great deal to be seen that the farmers can profit by. The expense of such a trip need not be more than five dollars ($5.00).

"I want forty automobiles to make the trip. If you own an automobile invite your farmer friends to go with you. If you have no means of going let the county agent know and he will try to provide a way. Anyone having room in their machine should let the county agent know that all may be accommodated.

"Everyone who goes is assured of a good time and should let the county agent know their intentions as far in advance as possible. Hoping to see every member out to the local meetings and a large delegation for the Burlington excursion, I am,

Yours truly,

Ray E. Deuel,

County Agent,

Co-operating with U. S. Dept. Agr.

Meetings as follows have been arranged by the Orleans County Agricultural association. The subject for discussion will be "Feeds and Feeding," and in addition there will be some business to transact. It is the aim of the county agent to make these local meetings the strongest factor in the county association.

Reunion of Company D at Newport.

The 25th annual reunion of Company D was held at Newport on Oct. 7 in the I. O. O. F. building. The first part of the day was occupied in handshaking and greeting the old boys we had not seen for years. At 12:30 the gong sounded at the Newport House for the boys to fall in for their ration and as they left the dining table all seemed to be well served. At 1:30 we assembled at the hall for business. Meeting was called to order by the president, A. J. Miller. First, order of business, roll call, secretary's report, treasurer's report were read and adopted. Eight comrades answered to their names, Lieut. and Mrs. E. H. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller, Sergt. and Mrs. J. G. Stickney, Frank Robbins and daughter, Elijah Stone, L. L. Sanborn and W. H. Brunning. There were also present Mrs. Stephen E. Page, Mrs. Lyman F. Putney and other invited guests. A place to hold the next reunion was discussed and Frank Robbins invited the company to meet at his place in Derby in October, 1915. Officers were elected for the ensuing year, Frank Robbins, president and ex-com, W. H. Brunning secretary and J. G. Stickney, treasurer. Letters were read by a daughter of Comrade Robbins from Capt. The Gem theatre had capacity houses both at the feature play on Thursday evening and at the Saturday night's show, but the attendance through the week is small, and the management is contemplating running only three nights per week instead of the full six nights as they now do.

May company and make a very attractive appearance as well as affording much more display room and adding at the same time a great deal to the attractiveness of the store.

Probably few small towns a distance of over 200 miles from Boston will show a larger delegation at the World series games there on Monday and Tuesday than Barton. Clarence Webster, Ray Webster, Amos Robinson, Roy Barron, John Malavey and Frank Dana all went Sunday from here, and several from Orleans village are also among the party.

The Barton Academy base ball team found the Orleans High school too much for them in their game Saturday, the final score being Orleans 8 to Barton 1. Our team has not, however had any opportunity to get together so far this season and we believe that in a couple of weeks they will make an altogether different showing against their opponents.

The neutrality notices that are being posted in all the Post offices of the United States, are well worth reading by every citizen in the several towns. The other side of the world is engaged in a terrific war, and there is every reason for the people of the United States to keep out of all chance of trouble by preserving a strict neutrality in both word and deed.

Democratic Rally.

Over one hundred people attended the Democratic rally at Seaver's hall last night, to listen to the address of Harland B. Howe, the Democratic candidate for governor. The Barton band was in attendance and certainly did themselves proud in the several selections which they rendered before the introduction of the speaker. Cornelius Buckley introduced Mr. Howe in a few well-chosen words. Mr. Howe's address was along the same lines as the one he gave at Orleans at the Democratic county convention held there a short time since. Mr. Howe says he is a LaFollette Republican and a Woodrow Wilson Democrat, that if he lived in New York where Tammany has run things too long, he would be a Republican but that in Vermont where the Republicans have run things for sixty-one years, he is a Democrat. He insists that the Republicans stole one of the planks of the Democratic party in 1912 in relation to taxation of special interests and railroads and increased the state's income thereby over $20,000. He finds much fault in the increase in state expenses in the past four years and in the large number of political offices created for politicians. Mr. Howe's address was straight to the point, from the start, yet there was absolutely no mud-slinging. It was an able and forceful argument and was well received.
